Program for Leading Graduate Schools

Inter-Graduate School Program for Sustainable Development and Survivable Societies (GSS)

2018 Orientation meeting for new students (including 3rd year enrollment)

In order to provide gifted students with a broad perspective and a sense of initiative, and lead them to become leaders active on the global scene, the “Program for Leading Graduate Schools” promotes the highest level of graduate education. Gathering educators and students from in and outside Japan, and involving industry, government and academia, it supports a radical change in graduate education by developing high-level interdisciplinary degree programs.

The “Inter-Graduate School Program for Sustainable Development and Survivable Societies” (GSS), a 5-year program, is now recruiting new students freshly enrolled in the participating graduate schools.

An orientation meeting regarding application to the program (including 3rd year enrollment) will be held as below. Students, as well as faculty members and staffs, who are interested in this program, are all welcomed to join in.
